

Journal of the African Women's Studies Centre, University of Nairobi

ISSN 2309-3625

Key title: Pathways to African Feminism and Development

In line with the United Nations vision of Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) no. 11 to achieve sustainable cities and communities by 2030, the Federal Government of Nigeria has come up with policies to facilitate housing for all. However, it has significant disadvantages since the bulk of urban migrants come from low-income neighbourhoods where there aren't enough resources or financial outlays to buy excellent, cheap homes. Furthermore, the current housing delivery mechanisms for low-income communities are not only unsustainable but also wasteful. Consequently, like in other developing countries, Nigeria requires a more sustainable model of housing delivery for low-income communities. This study sets out to investigate the efficient and sustainable delivery processes of housing for low-income communities in Jos City, Nigeria. The empirical study looks at local approaches used in Jos City, Nigeria, to deliver housing to communities with low incomes.

EDITORIAL BOARD

Chair of the Board

Prof. Elishiba Kimani, Dean School of Post graduate Studies & Prof. Education, Kenyatta University

EDITOR-IN CHIEF

Prof. Henry Indangasi, Professor of Literature, University of Nairobi

MEMBERS

Prof. Wanjiku Mukabi Kabira, Professor Emeritus, Literature & African Women Studies, Director African Women Studies Research Center, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Peter Wasamba, Professor, Department of Literature, University of Nairobi.

Dr. Patrick Kasyula, Department of Political Science, Diplomacy & Public Administration, University of Nairobi.

Dr. Gloria Nwandu Ozor, Department of English and Literary Studies, University of Nigeria.

Prof. Philomena Mwaura, Department of Philosophy & Religious Studies/Director, Centre for Gender Equity and Empowerment, Kenyatta University.

Dr. Alex Wanjala, Department of Literature, University of Nairobi.

Anna Petkova Mwangi (Coordinator and Technical Editor).

PEER REVIEWERS

Prof. Patricia Kameri-Mbote, Professor of Law, Faculty of Law, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Charles Owuor Olungah, Institute of Anthropology, Gender and African Studies, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Elishiba Kimani, Dean School of PGS and Professor of Education, Kenyatta University.

Prof. Wanjiku Mukabi Kabira, Professor Emeritus of Literature and African Women Studies, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Charles Nzioka, Chairman, Department of Sociology, Social Work and African Women Studies, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Jane Akinyi Ngala Oduor, Chair, Department of Linguistics and Languages, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Tabitha Kiriti Nganga, School of Economics, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Alina N Rinkanya, Professor of Literature, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Mary Kinoti, Faculty of Business and Management Sciences, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Henry Indangasi, Professor of Literature, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Peter Wasamba, Professor of Literature, University of Nairobi.

Prof. Philomena Mwaura, Dept. of Philosophy & Religious Studies/Director, Centre for Gender Equity and Empowerment, Kenyatta University.

Dr. Agnes Meroka-Mutua, Faculty of Law, University of Nairobi.

Dr. Fabu Phillis Carter, Madison's poet laureate, Wisconsin, USA.

Dr. Lilac Osanjo, Chair, Department of Art & Design, University of Nairobi.

Dr. Isaak Wachira, Central Bank of Kenya, Finance for Development Section.

Dr. Patrick Kasyula, Department of Political Science, Diplomacy & Public Administration, University of Nairobi.

Dr. Masumi H Odari, Department of Literature, University of Nairobi.

Dr. Gloria Nwandu Ozor, Department of English and Literary Studies, University of Nigeria.

Dr. Joseph Muleka, Department of Literature, University of Nairobi.